Avon Grove Library Staff Members Welcome New Director, Lori Schwabenbauer

West Grove, PA -- The staff members of The Avon Grove Library welcomed their new Director with a lovely meet and greet reception with refreshments on Friday (March 13th) afternoon in the library.

The new director, Downingtown resident Lori Schwabenbauer, will start on Wednesday, March 18th. Ms Schwabenbauer is a graduate of La Salle University, was a Fulbright Scholar, and earned her M.S.L.S. (Masters, Library Science) from Clarion University. She has worked in both public (including the Chester County Library) and university library settings, and has served as the President of the Tri-State College Library Cooperative.

The Avon Grove Library, a member of the Chester County Library System federation of libraries, provides materials, services and programming designed to meet the diverse educational, recreational, and cultural needs of the community. It supports universal access to information, inspires the love of reading, and promotes literacy and lifelong learning. The library currently serves more than 30,000 individuals, primarily in the Avon Grove School District. This district includes West Grove and Avondale boroughs, and the townships of Franklin, Penn, New London, London Britain, and London Grove. The library's website is www.avongrovelibrary.org, and the library phone number is 610-869-2004.#
